HORRY COUNTY, SOUTH CAROLINA
LETTER OF TRANSMITTAL
DECEMBER 1, 2006

To the Honorable Chairman, Members of the County Council, County Administrator, and the Citizens of Horry County:

We are pleased to submit the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report of the County of Horry for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2006. This report is prepared for the purpose of disclosing the County's financial condition to its residents, elected officials and other interested parties. The financial statements contain all disclosures necessary to enable the reader to gain an understanding of the County's financial activities.

Management assumes full responsibility for both the completeness and reliability of the information contained in this report, based upon a comprehensive framework of internal control that it has established for this purpose. Because the cost of internal control should not exceed anticipated benefits, the objective is to provide reasonable, rather than absolute, assurance that the financial statements are free of any material misstatements.

Scott McElveen L.L.P., Certified Public Accountants, have issued an unqualified ("clean") opinion on the County of Horry's financial statements for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2006. The independent auditors' report is located at the front of the financial section of this report.

Management's discussion and analysis (MD&A) immediately follows the independent auditors' report and provides a narrative introduction, overview, and analysis of the basic financial statements. MD&A complements this letter of transmittal and should be read in conjunction with it.

Profile of the Government

Horry County is the northeastern most county in the State of South Carolina. Encompassing 1,134 square miles, it is also the largest. Horry County was incorporated in 1801 with a population of 550. The County was named after Peter Horry who was a descendent of Huguenot settlers and whose family owned several large plantations in the area. He served as a Brigadier General of Militia and a member of the South Carolina General Assembly during the American Revolution under General Francis Marion, who was known as the Swamp Fox.

Surrounded on the three sides by ocean, rivers, and swamps, Horry developed a distinctive culture, which gave rise to its name, "The Independent Republic of Horry County". From the time of incorporation, Horry County stood off the edge of South Carolina, both literally and figuratively.

In 1975, Horry County adopted the Council-Administrator form of government. Under this type of government, each member of council is elected from a district in which he/she lives and a chairman is elected at-large. There are twelve council members in total. Each council member is elected for four-year terms, half of the members being elected every two years. Elections are held every even-numbered year in the month of November.

The Home Rule Act, passed by the General Assembly in 1976, dictates the responsibility of the Council. According to the act, county council's function is to make policy through ordinances and resolutions and shape those policies through the budget process. The Council is also responsible for appointing the County Administrator, the Registrar of Deeds and the Clerk to Council.

The Administrator is responsible for carrying out the policies and ordinances passed by council, for over-seeing day-to-day operations of the government, and for appointing the County's Division Directors. The Administrator performs all necessary administrative duties, as directed by Council, and ensures efficient operation of all county functions.

Horry County provides a full range of services, including police and fire protection, EMS and E-911 Services, the construction and maintenance of highways, streets and other infrastructure, health and social services, recreational and cultural activities, economic development, and other general administrative support services. In addition, air transportation and terminal support, industrial park development, and operation of a baseball stadium jointly owned with the City of Myrtle Beach are provided under an Enterprise fund concept, with charges set to provide adequate coverage of operating expenses and payments on outstanding debt.

The Council is required to adopt a final budget by no later than the close of the fiscal year. This annual budget serves as the foundation for Horry County's financial planning and control. All department heads present a departmental budget to the Department of Budget and Revenue Management, which is reviewed and a balanced financial plan is presented to the Administrator. Once the Administrator is satisfied with the recommended budget, it is forwarded to County Council. Council must, according to state law, have three readings of the financial plan ordinance and a public hearing before it can be passed and become law. The Administrator is authorized to transfer budgeted funds within a department and between departments, within the same fund. Budget transfers between funds require amendments to the original ordinance. Formal budgetary integration is employed as a management control device during the year. No expenditure in any one of the governmental fund types will exceed the budgeted expenditure amount for that fund without prior amendment of the financial plan ordinance by Council.

Local Economy

The County's economy remains strong as a result of sustained residential and commercial development over the past ten years. The tax base continues to grow, as well as building permit revenues.

The County's predominantly tourist-based economy continues to thrive, in spite of the state of the national economy. Most of the County's sixty (60) miles of beaches stretching from the Georgetown County line to the North Carolina line have been developed residentially or commercially while at least 32% of the remainder of the County is yet to be developed. Thirty-eight percent of the state's hotel and motel rooms are located in Horry County. Forty percent of the state's second homes are also located within the County.

Horry County ranks second in the nation in per capita housing starts, according to a "hotness index" published by U.S. Housing Markets, a Michigan research group. Woods & Poole, a Washington based economics research group, predicted that Horry County will rank second in the nation over the next 20 years in job growth and population growth.

Horry County's biggest development, Carolina Forest, was opened by International Paper in 2000. Carolina Forest is approximately 17 square miles or 10,850 acres. To compare, the City of Myrtle Beach is also approximately 17 square miles or 10,700 acres. In thirty years, 50,000 to 60,000 people could live in Carolina Forest, with it possibly growing into an incorporated town. There will be 37 subdivisions, eight to 10 golf courses, and five million square feet of commercial space. Horry County is striving to make this the County's first fully zoned and planned community. The overall concept is to intersperse houses with sidewalks, arranged by subdivisions with matching signage, all planned around a downtown district with an old-fashioned Main Street called "Town Centre". Plans are being prepared for a precinct police department, fire stations and equipment, school construction and controlled commercial development. The population is estimated to be approximately 60 percent retirees and 40 percent younger families. The growth is expected to take place over the next 20 to 30 years. Due to this mass development, the County is analyzing funding methods such as impact fees, admissions tax, property taxes, business licenses, etc.

In 1999 Burroughs and Chapin began development of the Grande Dunes Resort project, a high profile, full service resort stretching from the beach to the Intracoastal Waterway between 82nd Avenue North and the Dunes Golf and Beach Club in Myrtle Beach. The residential resort, touting classic Mediterranean architecture, will provide numerous upscale amenities to include golf and tennis facilities, an ocean club, and private marina. Accommodations, upscale shops and restaurants are all part of the plan for the Marina Village section of the development, and will be open to the public. The majority of the residential section is completed, with the Marina underway.

The company also broke ground on Horry County's newest growth endeavor currently in development – The Multi-County Business Park, which is home to the 1.4 million square foot Coastal Grand – Myrtle Beach Mall on US 501 and US 17 Bypass. The metropolitan-size shopping mall opened in March of 2004 and houses anchor stores such as Belks, Sears, Dillard's, Dick's Sporting Goods, and Bed Bath & Beyond. In addition to the mall, space is available for up to 20 out parcels for free standing business. Colonial Mall also celebrated the grand opening of Bass Pro Shops in a 102,000 square foot sportsman's paradise early fall of 2004 and the opening of Books A Million in late fall of 2004.

Shopping opportunities are bountiful on our fine Grand Strand – from the Tanger Outlet Stores on US 501 just outside of Conway to the newly opened Tanger Outlet Center located in the northernmost section of Myrtle Beach on US 17. Outlet shops such as SAKS, GAP, Osh Kosh, Sketchers, Croscill, and Bombay make either of these retail gems a must see.

The County is ranked first in tourism among the 46 counties in the State. The estimated number of tourist and permanent residents on any given day during the tourist season is 645,000. Myrtle Beach, according to a regional profile of U.S. visitation to South Carolina estimates that approximately 13.7 million tourist visit the Grand Strand each year. The Toronto Sun presented the Myrtle Beach area with the 2005 Golfer's Choice Bronze Award for Best Travel Destination.

Among the amenities that create such a draw to the region, there are more than 1,800 dining establishments, in excess of 79,000 rooms available for overnight guests, a variety of entertainment theaters and nearly 120 golf courses – not to mention miles of coastline, meandering rivers and abundant natural beauty, all available.

With area courses designed by some of the best-known names in golf, including Jack Nicklaus, Arnold Palmer, Ree Jones, Greg Norman, and Tom Fazio, Horry County boasts one of the largest concentrations of golf facilities in the nation. Golfers will be able to tee off on any of 1,800 golf holes in the county- playing nearly 4.13 million rounds of golf each year. Golf generates more than $644 million annually for the state's economy and employs more than 14,000 full time workers. The industry has also been instrumental in the expansion of the tourist season, including early spring and late fall to our regular May through October peak. The Horry County area accounts for more than 34 percent of South Carolina's golf courses.

Retail sales, employment and construction are all intimately tied to the tourism industry. The increasing diversity of geographic origin and economic profile of tourist will help to hedge any cyclical downturn in the national economy. Group marketing sales are also an increasing part of the visitor industry for the Grand Strand.

Tourism accounts for well over half of the retail sales in the Grand Strand, so a robust visitor season certainly transfers to retail sales. Further, The Wall Street Journal and Money Magazine have listed the Myrtle Beach area among the top spots in the country for retirement. As the population in the United States ages and retirees begin to look at the Grand Strand for retirement, another source of retail sales begins to emerge. Like tourists, retirees spend money in the community but do not take up a position in the workforce. Retirees, however, demand a new range of products and services.

Horry County is more than a bustling center of tourism. It is also a comfortable place in which to live, raise a family, and simply relax and enjoy life. County residents have the unique opportunity to both enjoy the pleasant tranquility of country living as well as the numerous amenities offered along the Grand Strand resort areas.

Long-term Financial Planning

Unreserved, undesignated fund balance in the general fund (22% of the FY06 general fund expenditure budget) continues to fall within the policy guidelines set by County Council for budgetary and planning purposes (15% of general fund operating budget).

The outlook for the County is as exciting as the past has been. The Census 2000 results reflect a permanent population of 196,629 for Horry County with projections showing continued growth to a population of 296,000 by the year 2010. Due to the amount of growth in Horry County, construction, both residential and commercial, has boomed. From July 2005 to June 2006, Horry County issued 5,795 residential building permits, which were up by 29 percent from the previous year during the same period. The estimated dollar value of the construction increased by 42 percent to an unprecedented $1.25 billion. Commercial construction is also rising. From July 2005 to June 2006, Horry County issued 181 commercial building permits, which was at the same level as June 30, 2005.

To address the ongoing capital needs for the growing community, Horry County Council approved the development of a Capital Improvement Program Policy. This policy calls for the adoption of a formal five-year Capital Improvements Program to be updated annually. The County will attempt to budget as pay-as-you-go funding for capital improvements an amount equal to at least 3% of General Fund operating revenues.

Major Initiatives

Expanding transportation, infrastructure, and service needs are a constant strain on the government entity. In spite of the difficulty of predicting such needs, an attempt has been made to anticipate the County's growth and to create opportunities and expand services to accommodate the demands of the citizens. In the area of Public Safety, the expansion and merger of our Fire and EMS departments facilitate desirable response time; in Libraries, the expansion plans facilitate customer service. Major equipment (fire trucks, ambulances, and books) is included in the Capital Improvement Plan because of the high dollar impact of these items. In addition to the primary government's Capital Improvements Plan, Airport and major road projects are in progress or are planned for the near future. The County has also taken great steps to manage stormwater issues and is using strong initiative in the area of geographical information system development.

A strong commitment to building and diversifying our economy is evident through our emphasis on economic development. The County currently operates three (3) industrial parks. Overall community commitment exists to bring in new industry – as demonstrated by the example of Horry Electric Cooperative's contributions, through the Rural Development Act, to assist in the infrastructure development of these parks.

On November 7, 2006, the voters of Horry County passed a one-cent capital projects sales tax that will go into effect May 2007, and by state law, will end seven years later. Horry County is slated to receive $425,539,087 over this seven year period, which will be used to fund the largest local road improvement program in the history of Horry County.

CAPITAL PROJECTS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The J. Reuben Long expansion program is underway with the addition of a new wing to the Minimum Security building as the first phase. An Architectural/Engineering firm has been selected and planning of the expansion of the main building has begun. County Council has allocated a significant initial budget to provide for the planning and programming. Installation of a new roofing system on the existing jail building will be complete in January 2007.

A collaborative agreement has been executed with the local Humane Society organization and building modifications have been completed at the former Environmental Services Facility to convert it to the "Mr. Board, Spay and Neuter Clinic". This facility is now staffed and operated by the Humane Society.

The Conway Memorial Library project was complete in July 2006 and formally opened for circulation in October 2006 on the campus of the former Burroughs School.

An Architectural/Engineering firm has been selected and design is underway for the renovation of the Burroughs School and McCown Auditorium buildings which will become the new home of the Horry County Museum. The renovations are planned for completion by October 2008.

As funded in the last fire bond, the following fire stations have been completed: Forestbrook, Lake Arrowhead, Scipio Lane, Carolina Forest #1, Finklea, Iron Springs, Hickory Grove and Lee's Landing.

Carolina Forest #3 will begin in January 2007 and property acquisition is underway for the Burgess area station.

A design-build team has been selected for the Public Works/Stormwater office addition and equipment shed project, which will be completed in June 2007.

North and South Police Precincts/Public Works Satellite Facilities are in the design phase. The South Precinct will be completed by July 2007.

The Conway Health Department project is underway, as a design-build contract. This project is expected to be completed in August 2007, and will consolidate all Horry County SCDHEC functions into a single building at the Horry County Community Service Complex on Industrial Park Boulevard.

A Parks & Recreation Community Center is underway at the Bucksport Park. The North Strand Park Athletic Field Facility on Highway 57 was completed in July 2005. The Loris Passive Park project is underway by County Parks & Recreation and Maintenance forces.

An addition to the Loris Library building, funded by donations, is scheduled for completion in April 2007, under a design-build contract.

In 2006, the Horry County Maintenance Department constructed ambulance bay additions and modifications at the Bucksport and Loris EMS Facilities.

STORMWATER MANAGEMENT

The Horry County Stormwater Management Program is a special revenue fund with revenue generated from a utility fee based on impervious areas on each parcel. Single-family parcels are billed a flat rate of $29.40 per year. The fees for other parcels are calculated and the fee is determined based on the amount of impervious area on the parcel.

The Stormwater Department currently has 24 staff positions and a budget of approximately $3.8 million dollars.

The Stormwater Program is guided by a citizen's advisory board appointed by County Council. The program is focused on both drainage and flood control as well as water quality preservation and improvement.

Drainage and flood control components include maintenance of existing drainage canals, ditches and piped systems, and drainage improvement projects such as digging new ditches, and increasing the capacity of piped systems and culverts. These maintenance and improvement projects are spread throughout the unincorporated part of the County.

The Stormwater Program is equally committed to preserving the quality of the natural water resources in our County. A water quality monitoring program has been established in cooperation with the USGS. There are currently 4 real-time water quality monitoring stations in place.

We are currently implementing our NPDES Phase II stormwater plan as required by the Clean Water Act. One of the major components of this plan is to reduce construction site runoff pollution. There are two positions dedicated to this, a plan reviewer and a full-time stormwater inspector. In addition, the Code Enforcement Department and the Engineering Departments are assisting in this effort by checking new subdivisions and single-family construction sites for erosion and sediment control compliance.

RIDE PLAN

The most aggressive road construction program in the history of Horry County, Road Improvement and Development Effort (RIDE), was approved by Governor Beasley in September 1996. The RIDE Project is the initiation of a comprehensive solution for transportation problems which pairs significant funding from the local level with funding provided by the State of South Carolina. Horry County enacted an ordinance in the fall of 1996 that implemented a 1.5 percent hospitality fee (accommodations, restaurants, amusements, golf and theaters) effective January 1, 1997. The purpose of this fee is to provide the financial ability for Horry County to partner with the State of South Carolina to meet the infrastructure needs of the County.

The participating parties for the RIDE Project are Horry County, the South Carolina Transportation Infrastructure Bank and the South Carolina Department of Transportation. The role of the South Carolina Transportation Infrastructure Bank is to provide the necessary financing and funding for the RIDE Project. More detailed information about the technical aspects of the intergovernmental agreement is provided in Note 17 of the basic financial statements.

The total cost of the RIDE Project is $888 million. The total debt service over the life of the proposed bonds for the RIDE Project is $1.2 billion. Horry County's contribution to retire the debt is $598 million.

The RIDE Project includes a series of interconnected highway construction and road enhancements that will improve the overall transportation network in Horry County.

Horry County submitted a RIDE 2 application to the State Infrastructure Bank and received approval of $198 million to continue the RIDE Program. Five specific projects were identified and approved for funding on the application.

GEOGRAPHIC INFORMATION SYSTEM (GIS) PROGRAM

The County's GIS is a core component of its enterprise systems applications. GIS-centric deployment of applications has been accomplished in a number of departments including Public Safety with a new GIS-centric CAD (Computer Aided Dispatch) deployed in 2006. The enterprise implementation of Azteca Cityworks for work order management is an ongoing project, with deployment complete in Stormwater and Engineering, IT/GIS/Assessor and E911. The county has also integrated its OnBase document management system with the GIS and is now integrating all applications with OnBase. The IT/GIS department developed a field based code enforcement application for building inspectors and deployed in 2006. Horry County's IT/GIS department is continually integrating all applications with its GIS, Work Order management Solution and OnBase Document Management. Upcoming projects include:

- Clerk of Court OnBase deployment
- Magistrates OnBase integration
- Mobile GIS in Public Safety vehicles and Automated Vehicle locator
- Management of parcel layer editing
- Data conversion for GIS-centric CAMA system
- Reflight of Aerial imagery planned for 2007
- Maintenance of Road centerlines for CAD system

AIRPORT

The Myrtle Beach International Airport was constructed in 1975 in response to the growing demand for commercial air services to the Myrtle Beach area. The airport consists of over 1,900 acres of land, located with the City of Myrtle Beach. Myrtle consists of a two-level passenger terminal with approximately 125,000 square feet, a 9,500 foot runway and related taxiways, a general aviation apron and supporting buildings and hangars. The financial position of the Horry County Department of Airports remains strong with increases to fuel sales, hangar rentals and concession revenues which passenger enplanements at Myrtle decreased by 6.67% during fiscal year 2006. Passenger traffic is forecasted to grow approximately three percent, on average, in the upcoming years. The Department is continuing to implement its various airports' Master Plans expansion projects to ensure that sufficient capacity will be available to meet future demands. These projects include development of both a new passenger terminal complex and a new general aviation terminal at Myrtle Beach International Airport, completion of a security-fencing project a HYW, obstruction removal at CRE and purchase of land in the Runway Protection Zone (RPZ) at 5J9.

The Department is continuing to work on the development of a new passenger terminal complex on the western side of Myrtle Beach International Airport. The Department has hired Parsons Brinckerhoff Quade & Douglas, Inc. for program management. Skanska USA is the construction manager at-risk for the project and is currently providing design services through Gresham Smith and Partners. Skanska USA provided a guaranteed maximum price (GMP) for construction in December 2006. If County Council approves the GMP and authorizes the construction of the new terminal, it will be funded through a combination of additional general airport revenue bonds; federal, state, and local grants; airport cash reserves, including PFCs (the FAA approved the PFC application in early 2006); and revenues from the surplus property located at Myrtle Beach and Grand Strand Airports. In March 2006, the airport received a $43 million Letter of Intent (LOI) from the FAA for the terminal project.

FUNDING

The funding of the Judicial/Governmental Complex was funded through the issuance of a $38.3 million dollar General Obligation Bond.

The Socastee Library and South Strand Complex have been funded through a General Obligation Bond of $20.2 million, which also covered renovations to the required Administrative Complex, Burroughs School and furnishings for the new Judicial Center and Administrative Buildings.

The Fire projects/equipment require separate Special Tax District General Obligation Bonding. In January of 2000, a GO Bond of $9.5 million was issued with a 15-year repayment plan. In June 2004, a new bond issue of $11 million was issued to fund the construction of 8 new fire stations and additions to 4 existing fire stations.

A 1.5% Hospitality Fee is being assessed County-wide on all prepared foods, accommodations and amusements to be used for the improvement and construction of roads.

The 1.0% Hospitality Fee assessed on the unincorporated areas of the county has been used to issue revenue bonds to fund portions of the county's local road improvement plan, Public Safety, GIS and Stormwater project start-up in 2001. The fee was also used to fund the construction of the Drug Lab.

The Stormwater Management program is generating utility fees to cover construction costs and operational costs generated from maintenance and staffing needs.

The County imposed a Solid Waste fee in fiscal year 2004, which will be used to fund E-911 enhancements.

Projects not provided for by debt, grant funding, or user fees will require transfers from the general fund or a millage assessment.

Awards and Acknowledgements

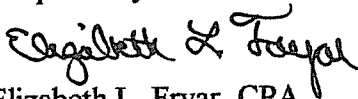

The Government Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (GFOA) awarded a Certificate of Achievement for Excellence in Financial Reporting to Horry County for its comprehensive annual financial report (CAFR) for the fiscal year ended June 30, 2005. This was the nineteenth consecutive year that Horry County has achieved this prestigious award. In order to be awarded a Certificate of Achievement, a government must publish an easily readable and efficiently organized comprehensive annual financial report. This report must satisfy both generally accepted accounting principles and applicable legal requirements.

A Certificate of Achievement is valid for a period of one year only. We believe that our current report continues to meet the Certificate of Achievement program requirements, and we are submitting it to the GFOA to determine its eligibility for another award.

In addition, Horry County also received the GFOA's Distinguished Budget Presentation Award for its annual budget document dated July 1, 2005 for fiscal year ended June 30, 2006. This was the seventeenth consecutive year that Horry County has received this prestigious award. In order to qualify for the Distinguished Budget Presentation Award, the government's budget document had to be judged proficient as a policy document, a financial plan, an operations guide, and a communications device.

The preparation of this report could not be accomplished without the efficient and dedicated services of the entire staff of the Finance Department and the various division directors, department heads and employees who contributed to its preparation. We would like to express our appreciation to all members of the department who assisted and contributed to its preparation and to the staff of Scott McElveen L.L.P. who diligently strived to provide technical guidance and assistance. We would also like to thank Horry County Council and the County Administrator for their leadership and support in planning and conducting the financial operations of the County in a responsible and progressive manner.

Respectfully submitted,
