INTRODUCTION

Horry County has a wealth of active and passive recreation opportunities to offer its residents and visitors. The county alone provides over 80 recreational facilities, including regional parks, recreation centers, community and neighborhood parks, beach accesses, and boat landings. In addition, county residents benefit from all of the recreational amenities available in area municipalities, along its waterways, and within 55,000 acres of protected open space.

The following inventory details the recreational amenities and conservation lands in Horry County, focusing primarily upon county-maintained facilities. Because there are so many municipal parks and preserved open conservation lands, this inventory only provides a summary of these facilities to frame how the county's facilities fit into the greater green infrastructure network. The information detailed in this inventory was collected in 2015 and included site visits and evaluations of all county-owned or maintained facilities. County staff coordinated with area municipalities and conservation organizations to identify the location of all parks and open space properties within the county. The Horry County Parks and Open Space Board should review this inventory at least every 5 years and update it as necessary.

HORRY COUNTY PARKS & RECREATION

The Horry County Parks and Recreation Department was created in 1997 to meet the immediate and long-term recreation needs of residents in unincorporated Horry County. At that time, Horry County had few recreational facilities and programs. In 1999, County Council funded the development of the Horry County Recreation Needs Assessment for 1999-2009. The county has worked diligently over the last two decades to implement the recommendations within that assessment. Today, Horry County Parks and Recreation operates more than 30 parks on over 618 acres of land, offering 39 baseball/softball fields, 15 tennis courts, 19 multi-purpose fields, 13 outdoor basketball courts, 26 playgrounds, and 2 disc golf courses. Horry County Parks and Recreation Department also maintains 27 boat landings, while Horry County Public Works and Engineering maintain 22 beach accesses and an expanding bicycle and pedestrian network.

REGIONAL PARKS

Horry County Parks and Recreation provides residents with three regional parks, including Vereen Memorial Gardens, Socastee Recreational Park, and the Bike & Run Park. Both Vereen Gardens and Socastee Recreational Park were developed prior to the establishment of the Parks and Recreation Department and serve a large portion of the county. The Bike & Run Park was recently established.

Parks and Open Space Inventory

While small in size, it attracts users from throughout the county and beyond. Regional parks are typically more than 100 acres in size and cater to those within a 15 mile radius.

Vereen Memorial Historical Gardens is located along the Intracoastal Waterway in Little River on more than 115 acres of forest and marshland. This facility includes approximately 3 miles of nature trails and boardwalks that meander through its botanical gardens and along its waterfront. A small segment of the original Kings Highway, a colonial route between Boston and Charleston, still remains at the front of the property, behind the CB Berry Community Center. The Center, while undersized, provides space for recreational programming and community events. There is a governing board for this property, who is engaged in facility enhancements and activities.

Socastee Recreational Park is located on a 91.5 acre property off of Enterprise Road and serves residents living in the southern end of the county. The facility boasts numerous multi-purpose fields, an archery range, picnic areas, a disc-golf course, trails, and a playground. This facility attracts a variety of users, from tournament participants to families. There is community interest in expanding the fields and providing a community center on site. This park is also managed by a governing board, but financed through the Socastee Community Recreation Tax District. This is the only recreation tax district in the county and funds can only be allocated for debt services within the area that it serves.

The Bike & Run Park, also known as 'The Hulk,' is quickly becoming a park of regional significance, attracting both local users and vacationers. This facility is located along the Intracoastal Waterway near River Oaks Drive in Carolina Forest. It includes 7 miles of mountain biking and hiking trails on 70 acres of open space. The park was developed through the vision and labor of volunteers on a county-owned dredge spoil basin that provides drastic changes in elevation that cannot be found in other parts of the county. In addition to providing a venue for a variety of races, its parking area serves as the first official East Coast Greenway trailhead in the State of South Carolina. Because of its popularity, there is demand for additional parking, outdoor workout equipment along the trails, and the development of obstacle and ropes courses.

RECREATION CENTERS

The county has four community recreation centers, including North Strand Park, Carolina Forest Recreation Center, James Frazier Community Center, and the South Strand Recreation Center. These facilities are intended to cater to residents within a 3 to 5 mile radius, providing active recreation and programming through indoor gymnasiums, athletic fields, outdoor courts, and playgrounds. Each of these recreation centers are in need of expansions, as the buildings and outdoor amenities do not have enough space to meet existing demand. There is a desire for additional fields, field lighting, outdoor courts, covered seating and picnic areas, trails, and play areas. There is also demand to collocate swim facilities at some of these sites. Rural communities could benefit from the development of community recreation centers as a central gathering space and for recreational programming.

COMMUNITY AND NEIGHBORHOOD PARKS

Horry County operates 26 neighborhood and community parks. These facilities range in size from 1/10 acre to 23 acres, with the majority being under 10 acres in size. Neighborhood parks are typically small in nature and located within ½ mile to 1 mile of the residents it serves. Community parks are larger in size and cater to those within 1 to 3 miles. County parks are undersized compared to the National Recreation and Parks Association's standard dimensions. In addition, many neighborhood parks have overgrown their capacity and are serving more people than they were designed to accommodate.

County parks provide a combination of active and passive recreation amenities, like playgrounds, fields, basketball or tennis courts, and picnic areas. Many of the county's parks are in need of equipment replacement and upgrades, as they are actively used and beginning to age. A facility assessment revealed the need to replace basketball, tennis, and volleyball nets and bleachers, resurface basketball and tennis courts, and repair field fencing. In addition, community input has revealed a desire for restrooms and water fountains, field lighting, and improved public safety measures.

The county currently owns four properties that are intended to be developed as parks in the future. Greenwood Park and Loris Outdoor Park have been owned by the county for two decades, but have not had adequate funding or demand to develop them. Both Huger Park and Stalvey Creek Boardwalk properties were acquired through efforts of the Horry County Parks and Open Space Board. Huger Park has a formalized master plan and dedicated funding to develop, while Stalvey Creek Boardwalk has not been developed due to a lack of land that is suitable for public parking. The county is continuing to work to achieve the goals to develop these properties. It is also working with adjacent property owners of many existing parks to gauge the feasibility of expanding.

BEACH ACCESSES

There are over 30 miles of beachfront and more than 300 public beach access sites in Horry County, the majority of which are located within local municipalities. Horry County government maintains 22 sites within the unincorporated areas of the county, mainly within Garden City and Arcadian Shores. In recent years, the county has used parking fees and grant funding to make improvements to its beach access sites. Such improvements have included: resurfacing parking areas and adding pervious pavers; improving handicap accessibility through ramp replacement and offering beach wheelchairs; adding golf cart parking and bike racks; and adding shower towers, seating, landscaping, and restroom facilities, where feasible.

A comprehensive list and map of all public beach accesses, their amenities, and beach water quality conditions for the South Carolina coast can be found at <https://gis.dhec.sc.gov/beachaccess/>.

Map 2: SCDHEC Beach Access Map

Because the economic vitality of Horry County is highly dependent upon the experience of beach goers, the county should continue to make strides to expand public beach access parking areas, improve dune walkovers and handicap accessibility, reduce litter, improve beach water quality, and maintain a wide beach through beach nourishment and dune restoration.

BOATING & BLUEWAYS

There are 35 public boat landings throughout Horry County, 27 of which are managed by Horry County Parks and Recreation. Most of the county's maintained landings were originally built and managed by the SC Department of Natural Resources and were later given to the county to maintain. The majority of county-maintained landings are located in rural areas, along black waters of the Waccamaw, Pee Dee, Little Pee Dee and Lumber Rivers, and serve as the primary public recreational amenity in the areas they serve. A handful of landings are located along the Intracoastal Waterway and are heavily used by those in the more urbanized part of the county.

Both rural and urban landings are popular places for residents. Despite the 'pack in, pack out' messages at rural landings and the availability of trash receptacles at more urban landings, many facilities have an ongoing litter problem. Community partners, like American Rivers, the Waccamaw Riverkeeper and Keep Horry County Beautiful, are working to beautify and pick up litter at area landings. Additionally, Horry County is working to install security cameras at many landings, which will allow for the monitoring of illegal activity and facility usage.

Blueways

Horry County's rivers serve as scenic resources for its residents and are a draw for outdoor recreational enthusiasts. Not only is a portion of the Little Pee Dee River designated as a Scenic River, there are also two nationally recognized paddling trails that traverse Horry County, including the Waccamaw River Blue Trail and the Southeast Coast Saltwater Paddling Trail. Branding and marketing the facilities along these water trails will improve user experience and encourage expansion of eco-tourism businesses.

The Waccamaw River Blue Trail extends from Chris Anderson Landing on Hwy 9 in Horry County to East Bay Park in the City of Georgetown. This trail meanders through the protected bottomland hardwood swamps of the Waccamaw National Wildlife Refuge and the historic riverfront cities of Conway and Georgetown. The Blue Trail was established in 2013 by the National Parks Service with the leadership of American Rivers. To date, American Rivers and its partners, Pee Dee Land Trust and the Waccamaw Riverkeeper Program, have developed detailed, waterproof maps and installed signage along the trail. For more information about the blue trail, visit: <https://www.nps.gov/WaterTrails/Trail/Info/45>.

The Southeast Coast Saltwater Paddling Trail (SECT) is another blueway that traverses Horry County. It spans from the Chesapeake Bay to the Georgia-Florida border, following the Intracoastal Waterway. For over 800 miles, the SECT hugs the coastal waters of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia, providing a unique opportunity for paddlers to experience an unbroken trail through four states in the tidal marshes and rivers of the southern USA. The National Parks Service, along with a number of agencies in Georgia, South Carolina, North Carolina, and Virginia were involved in the establishment of this paddling trail. While this trail is of regional significance, paddling along the Intracoastal Waterway in Horry County is difficult and there are few places to stop along the route. The banks of the Intracoastal Waterway are bluffed in many parts of the county and the wake generated from boat traffic is difficult to manage. This presents an opportunity to improve the experience for paddlers along this route.

Public Boat Landings

The following is a list of all boat landings in Horry County, most of which are maintained by the county. The City of Conway, US Fish and Wildlife (USFWS), SC Department of Natural Resources (SCDNR), and Grand Strand Water and Sewer (GSWSA) manage a handful of public landings along the Waccamaw River. In addition, the City of North Myrtle Beach (NMB) manages two public landings.

MUNICIPAL & PRIVATE FACILITIES

Horry County residents benefit from the plethora of recreational opportunities available in area municipalities. This section summarizes significant municipal and private sports tourism destinations, waterfront parks, and recreation centers. Residents in unincorporated areas often participate in sports leagues, special events, and programming that these facilities offer. Local municipalities maintain nearly 70 parks and 10 recreation centers, in addition to the hundreds of municipal beach accesses and handful of boat landings that were addressed in previous sections of this document.

SPORTS TOURISM

The cities of Myrtle Beach and North Myrtle Beach have capitalized on the tourist economy of our region by building regional complexes that cater to both local and tourist populations. In the last decade alone, these communities have dedicated extensive amounts of funding to develop Grand Park, the Myrtle Beach Sports Complex, and the North Myrtle Beach Park & Sports Complex. Other sports tourism attractions include the Myrtle Beach Speedway, the Pelicans' Ticketreturn.com Stadium, the Cal Ripken Experience, and of course the dozens of golf courses throughout the Grand Strand.

Grand Park

Grand Park Complex at Market Commons features seven large multipurpose fields and two youth fields. All have synthetic grass and lights and are designed to accommodate a variety of sports, including baseball, softball, lacrosse, soccer and football. Grand Park hosts dozens of national athletic tournaments annually and is located adjacent to Crabtree Memorial Gymnasium, Base Recreation Center, a roller hockey rink, and nearby Barc Park South. Savannah's Playground and Linear Park are currently under construction and will be part of the extensive open space network within Market Common.

Myrtle Beach Sports Complex

This indoor athletic complex opened in 2015, adjacent to the Myrtle Beach Convention Center. It includes eight basketball courts, 16 volleyball courts, a café and retail area, an entertainment zone complete with a climbing wall, and a 1500-seat telescopic bleacher system. It is configurable for numerous indoor sports and is primarily dedicated to competitive events.

North Myrtle Beach Park & Sports Complex

The newly developed North Myrtle Beach Sports Complex offers 4 regulation youth baseball/collegiate softball fields, 2 regulation high school/collegiate baseball fields, 8 regulation soccer/lacrosse fields, 8 batting tunnels, picnic shelters, 3 playgrounds, amphitheater, walking/bike trails, 3 acre dog park, 25 acre lake for water-related activities, and a 10 acre meadow. Go Ape, a ropes course, and Shark Wake Park, a wake board facility, are two private entities that operate from the NMB Park & Sports Complex.

Cal Ripken Experience

The Ripken Experience is a privately owned ballpark complex that hosts tournaments throughout the year. It includes 9 fields, with 4 being regulation size and 5 being youth diamonds.

Myrtle Beach Speedway

The Myrtle Beach Speedway is a privately owned venue for NASCAR fans to not only watch qualifying events, but ride or even drive a race car. Initially developed as a dirt track in the late 1950s, the track has been paved and now offers special events throughout the year.

Pelicans' TicketReturn.Com Stadium

The Pelicans are a minor league baseball team for the Chicago Cubs. Their 6,599 seat stadium sits on land owned by Horry County and the City of Myrtle Beach. In the off-season, this facility serves the area by housing special sporting events and a holiday lights festival.

Golf

Golf is a long-standing recreational activity in the Grand Strand, starting with the development of Pine Lakes Country Club in 1927. There are more than 30 golf courses located throughout the county, including the City of Myrtle Beach's Whispering Pines Golf Club. For many visitors to Horry County, vacations center on the sport of golf. From modest beginnings nearly 80 years ago, Myrtle Beach has become one of the best known and most popular golf resort areas in the country with over four million rounds played annually. While the development of golf communities has slowed recently, the game of golf remains popular among residents and visitors alike.

WATERFRONT PARKS

There are a number of waterfront facilities that serve as an attraction to the greater Grand Strand and simultaneously serve area residents.

Conway Riverwalk

The City of Conway's Riverwalk provides waterfront access to the Waccamaw River. This passive park is helping to revitalize the City of Conway, as it serves as a venue for community festivals and special events.

Marshwalk

While located in Georgetown County, the Murrells Inlet Marshwalk attracts people from throughout the region to enjoy its waterfront views, boating access, shops and restaurants.

Myrtle Beach Boardwalk

The Myrtle Beach Boardwalk is a 1.2 mile oceanfront boardwalk that provides access to the beach, along with shopping and dining experiences.

Fishing Piers

There are multiple fishing piers along the Grand Strand, most of which are privately operated, including Springmaid Pier, 2nd Ave Pier, 14th Ave Pier, Apache Pier, and Cherry Grove Pier. Public piers include Surfside Pier and the pier at Myrtle Beach State Park.

RECREATION CENTERS & PARKS

There are 9 municipal and 1 private recreation center that allow residents in unincorporated Horry County to use their facilities. Recreational programming and leagues can be enjoyed by county residents for slightly higher fees than municipal residents are charged. The county simply does not have enough facilities to cater to the programming and league demands that local municipalities can provide. Furthermore, the Conway Recreation Center, Smith Jones Recreation Center, NMB Aquatic & Fitness Center, Claire Chapin Epps Family YMCA, Pepper Geddings Recreation Center, and Mary Canty Recreation Centers are the only recreation facilities that offer aquatics classes and swim team practice areas. Coastal Carolina University also allows swim teams to train at the Williams-Brice PE Center Pool when space is available.

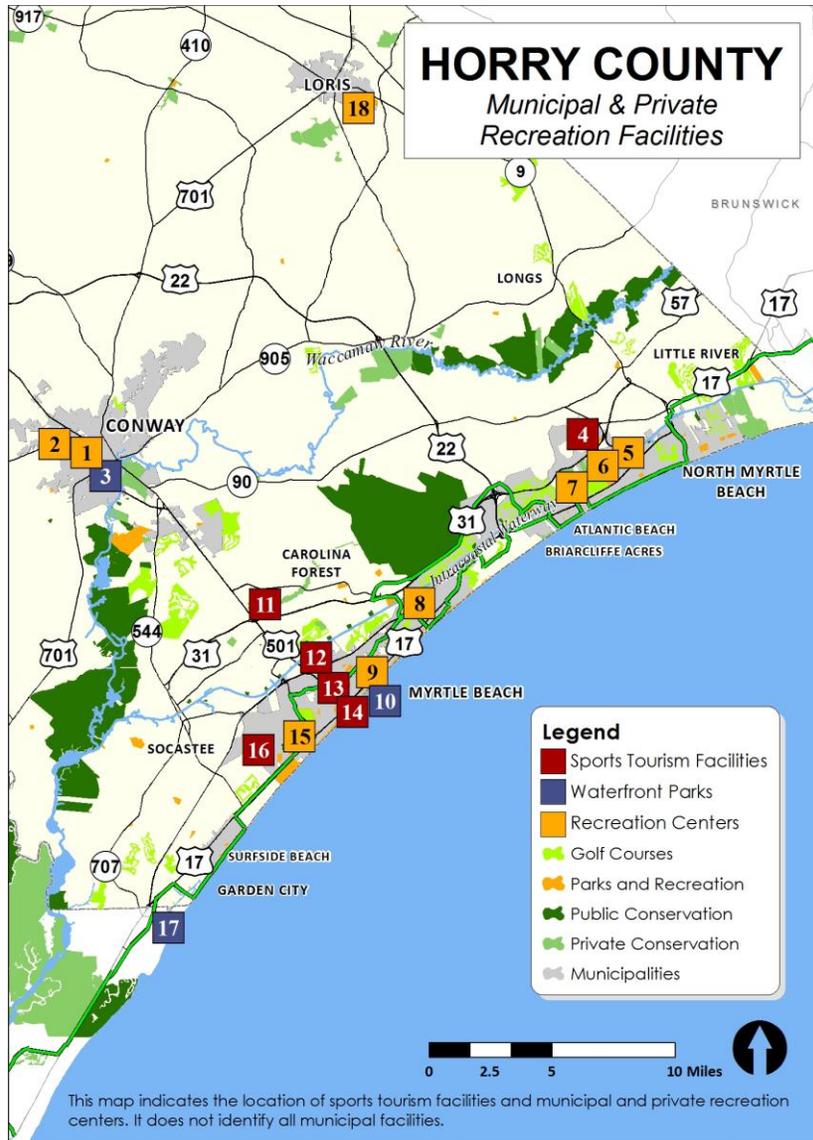

Many recreation centers are located adjacent to other municipal facilities, providing for a conglomeration of services and a variety of recreational offerings. For example, Pepper Geddings Recreation Center is located adjacent to Ned Donkle Field Complex, the Myrtle Beach Tennis Center, and Myrtle Beach High School's Doug Shaw Memorial Stadium. This property also houses a field for the Grand Strand Miracle League that provides recreational activities for youth with disabilities.

A conglomeration of recreational facilities can also be found at Market Common, where Crabtree Memorial Gymnasium and Base Recreation Center are located adjacent to Grand Park. In North Myrtle Beach, the Aquatics & Fitness Center is housed adjacent to municipal offices, library, boat landing and Waccamaw Market facility. Such conglomeration of facilities not only makes it easier for residents to access a variety of recreation and leisure activities, it also makes it easier to maintain.

In addition to recreation centers, area municipalities offer numerous parks, many of which are within walking distance of area residents. These facilities are identified within Appendix II, as there are far too many to list here.

OPEN SPACE

Horry County's sandy beaches, meandering estuaries and swashes, blackwater rivers, and Carolina Bays provide for a variety of native species and offer scenic views and outdoor recreational opportunities for area residents. There are numerous Federal, State, and non-profit organizations involved in conserving these unique habitats and wildlife corridors, in addition to the development community. Combined, there are over 55,000 acres of protected lands in Horry County, some of which are highlighted in this inventory. See Appendix III for a complete list of open space properties in Horry County. Additional information on local natural resources and habitats can be found in the Natural Resources Element of the Comprehensive Plan.

PUBLIC CONSERVATION

Public conservation lands make up the majority of protected open space in Horry County. Many of these lands have been acquired through grants and the dedication of wetland mitigation land to US Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) and the SC Department of Natural Resources (SCDNR). Partners, like the Nature Conservancy, often serve as pass through organization by using grant funding to purchase lands, and then donating them to the US Fish and Wildlife Service or the SC Department of Natural Resources.

Waccamaw National Wildlife Refuge

The US Fish and Wildlife Service established the Waccamaw National Wildlife Refuge (WNR) in December 1997 in Horry, Georgetown, and Marion counties, along the Waccamaw and Great Pee Dee Rivers. The Refuge includes a wide array of plants and animals associated with bottomland hardwood habitats and provides compatible wildlife-dependent recreational activities, including hunting, fishing, wildlife observation, photography, and environmental education and interpretation. The WNR includes 27,000 acres of protected lands across the three counties, and additional properties are being sought from willing sellers within their federally approved acquisition boundary.

Cox Ferry Lake Recreation Area

Cox Ferry Lake Recreation Area is located along Jackson Bluff in Conway and is owned and operated by US Fish and Wildlife. It has three trails of varying lengths including a boardwalk which allows hikers to meander through a flooded cypress swamp. Additional trails were recently added to this passive recreation area, including a loop for mountain biking. The property also has a pavilion, fishing dock, and launch area for non-motorized boats.

SC DNR Heritage Trust Preserves

The South Carolina Department of Natural Resources' Heritage Trust Program was created in 1976 to identify, evaluate, and protect outstanding elements of the State's heritage. There are four heritage preserves in Horry County, including Little Pee Dee, Cartwheel Bay, Waccamaw River, and Lewis Ocean Bay Heritage Preserves. Each of these preserves protect and manage a variety of habitats, ranging from bottomland hardwood forests to Carolina Bays. The protection of these habitats also preserves threatened or rare species like the long-leaf pine, venus fly trap, pitcher plant, black bear, and red-cockaded woodpecker. Combined, SC Department of Natural Resources has protected over 32,000 acres of land in Horry County alone. These lands provide recreational opportunities for hikers, equestrians, paddlers, and sportsmen.

Myrtle Beach State Park

Myrtle Beach State Park was built in the 1930s by the Civil Conservation Corps, as the first state park in South Carolina. The park consists of 312 acres of maritime forest and includes a 250-site campground, cabins, picnic areas, trails, fishing pier, and nature center. There is a mile of beachfront and nearly 400 parking spaces for beach goers. The park's beachfront is an inviting location for sea turtles to nest during the summer months. Park rangers work with area volunteers to ensure the nests are safely sited and use this as an educational opportunity to teach park users about these endangered species. Park rangers also use the nature center and park grounds as an interactive learning environment to provide a variety of programs throughout the school year, as well as programs geared towards tourists during the summer months.

Map 7: Myrtle Beach State Park

Playcard Environmental Education Center

Horry County Schools operates Playcard Environmental Education Center. The purpose of the facility is to educate students about the plants, animals, soil, and water in a blackwater swamp environment. Playcard is surrounded by lands that are protected by the Horry County Conservation Foundation that serve as a living laboratory for area youth.

Flood Mitigation Properties

Horry County Government owns 38 properties that were purchased with the assistance of FEMA hazard mitigation grant funds, mainly in the wake of Hurricane Floyd. These properties once had homes on them, which were removed from the properties. Federal funding restrictions prohibit new development on these sites, as they are intended to revert to their natural state or serve as parks to provide flood retention and minimize future flood losses.

Dredge Spoil Basins

The US Army Corps of Engineers has established dredge spoil sites along the Intracoastal Waterway to ensure there are sites to dispose of sediment in the event that the Intracoastal Waterway is dredged in the future. Development is prohibited on these sites, unless the Army Corps approves otherwise. The county owns 22 dredge spoil basins, totaling 319 acres, many of which have reverted to wetlands.

PRIVATE CONSERVATION

There are numerous privately protected lands in Horry County through conservation partners, like The Nature Conservancy, the United States Department of Agriculture, Ducks Unlimited, Pee Dee Land Trust, North American Land Trust, and Wildlife Action. These conservation partners protect a variety of lands that coincide with their individual missions. Most private conservation lands are protected through conservation easements, providing a tax incentive to the property owner, while allowing them to retain ownership and manage the land.

Easements are ideal for farmland preservation, as it can allow the land to continue as a working farm or timberlands as long as best management practices are instituted. In Horry County, US Department of Agriculture has protected over 4,000 acres of land in Horry County alone. The Pee Dee Land Trust also supports agricultural preservation and has preserved 306 acres in the county. Easements are also ideal for properties with a great deal of wetlands that cannot be developed, but provide significant habitat for wildlife, especially migratory waterfowl. The Nature Conservancy and Ducks Unlimited currently own or have easements on more than 8,000 acres of wetlands. These organizations often target conservation in close proximity to existing conservation lands in order to preserve a contiguous conservation network.

NEIGHBORHOOD OPEN SPACE

In addition to publically operated facilities, newer planned subdivisions over 11 lots are required to provide active and passive open space within their communities, minimally equating to 500 sq ft per single family residence or 20 percent of a property for a multi-family residential development. Horry County's Land Development Regulations require that 25 percent of the required open space provide for active recreation, such as a neighborhood pool or playground. The remaining open space often consists of wetlands and forestland. While these regulations have been in place since 2000, to date no analysis has been conducted on the amount of natural open space that has been protected through the regulations.

TRAILS AND GREENWAYS

Trails are limited in Horry County and consist mainly of nature trails in area parks and wildlife management areas. Popular nature trails include those at Myrtle Beach State Park, Vereen Memorial Gardens, and Cox Ferry Lake Recreation Area. Walking paths can also be found at Loris Nature Park, Socastee Recreational Park, and Playcard Environmental Center. In addition, the Carolina Forest Bike and Run Park has over 7 miles of mountain biking/hiking trails. SCDNR's Heritage Preserves are the only public venues that provide access for equestrians. While Horry County may allow horseback riding on the beach during the off-season with the use of a special permit, they are typically utilized for large scale special events.

The East Coast Greenway (ECG) is one of the most well-known paths in Horry County. This multi-use trail system extends from Maine to the Florida Keys, connecting urban areas with open spaces. In Horry County, the ECG is designed for pedestrians and cyclists with a mix of on-road and off-road sections. There is an ECG Master Plan for Horry and Georgetown Counties that identifies routing and design criteria for the various sections of the trail and for the location of future trailheads. Multiple segments of the trail have been completed in North Myrtle Beach, Myrtle Beach, Garden City, Litchfield, and Pawleys Island through the financial support from the Grand Strand Area Transportation Study (GSATS) Transportation Alternatives Program (TAP). There remains the need to connect these various segments to allow for a continuous path through our region.

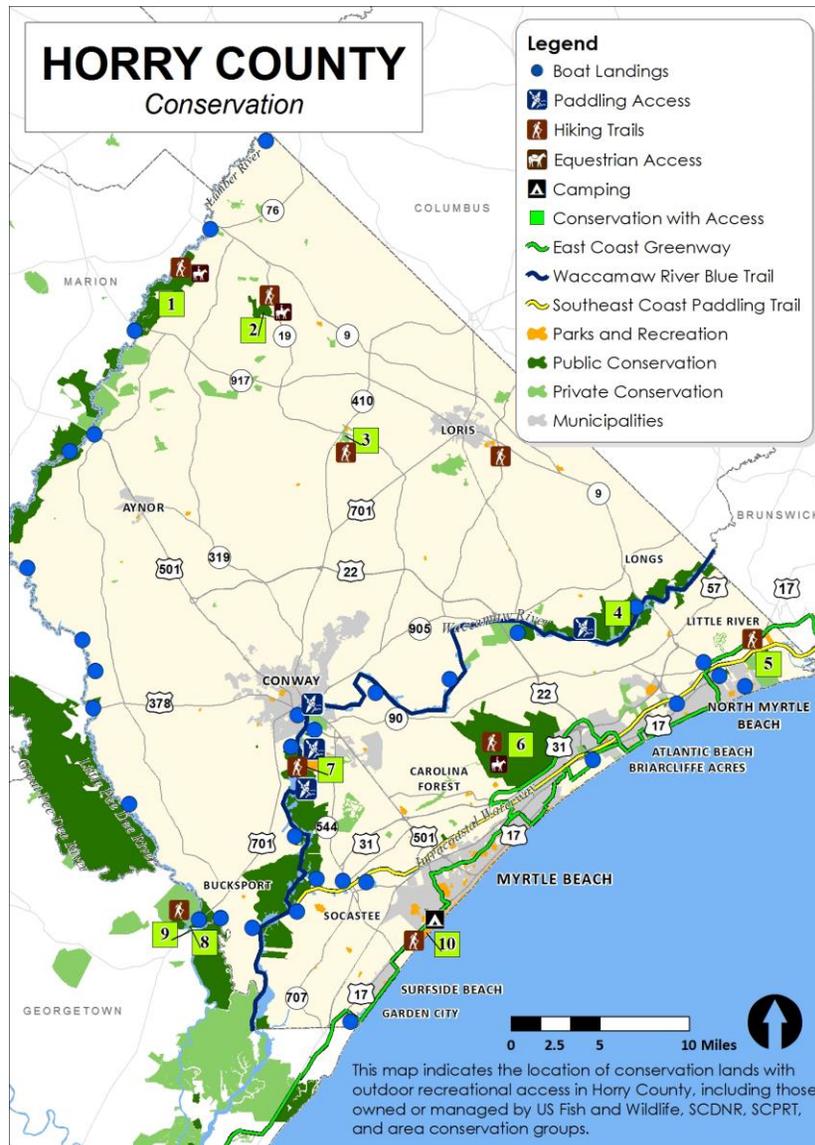

There remains a need for additional recreational trails and bicycle and pedestrian facilities throughout the County. The East Coast Greenway, in addition to other pedestrian and cycling facilities, are discussed in further detail in the Transportation Element of the Comprehensive Plan and in the Horry County Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan. At this time, the Bicycle and Pedestrian Plan only identifies proposed sidewalks and multipurpose paths in Carolina Forest and Burgess. Additional areas of the county will continue to be added to this plan over time. While a plan can be effective to identify community needs, the county has not dedicated funding specifically to the development and maintenance of bicycle and pedestrian network. Projects are typically funded in part by local governments, but often rely upon grants or GSATS, which have long waiting lists defined by regional priorities.

CAMPING

There are numerous private campgrounds in Horry County that cater to visitors with recreational vehicles (RVs), providing over 9,000 campsites. Such campgrounds are prevalent near Surfside Beach and off of Kings Road. RV camping is so popular that it makes up a total of 9 percent of the vacation accommodations in the Grand Strand.¹ While RV campsites are prevalent throughout the county, tent camping is limited and mainly available at resorts along the beach. Myrtle Beach State Park is the only public park facility in the county that offers tent sites. At this time, there are no campgrounds located along the Lumber, Little Pee Dee, and Waccamaw Rivers in Horry County. There is, however, a growing interest among paddlers and local residents for such facilities, as many people would like to paddle extensive lengths of these scenic rivers with overnight stays along the water's edge.
